

Philip C Zerrillo PhD is a full Professor (practice) and the Executive Director of the Centre for Management Practice at Singapore Management University. He is an award winning teacher at the graduate and executive levels and a widely published case author. He works with numerous universities around the world on developing faculty teaching capabilities and pedagogy. Dr Zerrillo has been a prominent board member of publicly-traded companies. He is a consultant, skilled university administrator, former radio personality, stand-up comedian and, of course, a dynamic professor in the classroom.

This book is intended to support faculty in designing and conducting case teaching. The book is a practical "how to" guide for faculty setting up and delivering a case based class. It can be used by instructors of all levels as it discusses issues such as class culture, teaching pace, grading, board usage etc.

Readership: Business school teachers and lecturers, education specialists and academics, education policy makers, and business school students.
